Health and Beauty

A group of well known American doctors have agreed that "streamlined diagnostic" surveys for the general public are a poor way to improve the public health.

The mass diagnostic tests often vary from chest x-rays to tests for vision, height and weight, blood pressure and electrocardiograms. They may consist of a combination of some or all of these procedures or "multiphasic screening."

Multiphasic screening is a extremely expensive way to try to improve public health. It is usually a mechanized, impersonal and incomplete service.

One of the outstanding disadvantages of the screening is the lack of adequate follow up. When a serious disease is found in a person quite often the person notified selects to take no action because the picture is not clear to him. It is hard to make people understand that this type of screening is not an end in itself, but a first step in diagnosis.

A negative reports instills a false sense of security in most of us. Later, if symptoms appear, they are likely to go unheeded.

On the other hand, it often causes apprehension and worry to persons with false positive diagnosis. The best policy is to go along with the screenings, if they are conducted in your city. However, have your family doctor take up where the other examination left off. Do all you can to make other citizens understand the exact value of the examination they receive.

Disappointments are inevitable if you have ambition or hope.

The only way to get business in go after it and keep going after it.

LOCAL LADY DOES FAVOR AND RECEIVES THANKS

There was an automobile accident near here recently, and a lady from Williamson, West Virginia, needed someone to come to her rescue. On the scene quickly was Mrs. W. H. Almond, of Appomattox. Mrs. Almond summoned aid, and the accident victim was taken to a Lynchburg Hospital.

Mrs. Almond has now received a long letter from the lady mentioned, with heartfelt gratitude for the kindness accorded her in Appomattox and at the Lynchburg Hospital. The doctors and nurses were praised for their attention. It was mentioned that the victim's purse and identification were left in the car, but "I was taken in without question" and given every care. "Joy and good-will surely abides in the Baptist Hospital of Lynchburg," she noted. She called attention to the presence of the hospital chaplain, for wonderful prayers.

"I would like to come back and thank each one that was so kind to us. I do hope I can some day."

The Sauce Makes The Pizza

Sally Ann Saylor is the undisputed queen of her pizza lovin' crowd. She prefers the traditional yeast dough, but that takes time. When the hour is late, she builds individual pizzas on split muffins or uses a biscuit mix, made stiff and kneaded satin-smooth. She makes do with whatever cheese is handy, and is not particular about the sausage because she knows the SAUCE makes the pizza. She cans sauce (in late summer when tomatoes are cheap) as that is the only way she can have a sauce seasoned her way.

Sally Ann's Pizza Sauce

|---|---|
| 4 quarts chopped tomatoes | 1 clove garlic |
| 1 large onion | 1 teaspoon oregano |
| 1 sweet red pepper | ½ teaspoon basil |
| 1 small hot pepper | 2 teaspoons salt |

Wash, scald, skin, core, chop, and measure tomatoes. Peel onion. Discard pepper seed. Finely chop onions, pepper, and garlic. Mix all ingredients and cook until thick. Pour sauce into jar. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Process pts. 30 min., 1½ pts. 35 min., qts. 45 min. in boiling-water bath canner.
